1. On 13 September 1951, the Panzertruppende in Wunsdorf (N 53/Z 91) was occupied by a small detail of soldiers. Gate guards wore black-bordered crimson epaulets and a brassard. Fifteen Russian women in civilian clothes were seen in the billeting area. Sedan [redacted] was parked in the barracks yard. About 100 soldiers with red-bordered black epaulets, who apparently belonged to the Panzertruppende, were sweeping Zehrendorfer Strasse. 50X1-HUM

2. On 13 September, the Lutz Kaserne seemed to have been recently occupied, but almost no troops were seen in the billeting area in daytime. At sundown, however, all windows of the installation were brightly lighted and radio music and singing was heard from the quarters. 50X1-HUM

3. About 400 troops were seen assembling for mess call in the Cambrai Kaserne on 13 September. Trucks [redacted] and armored personnel carrier [redacted] were seen leaving the installation. A convoy of about 60 trucks with canvas tops was seen passing through Rehagen toward Klausdorf on 13 September. Truck [redacted] was subsequently seen on the Klausdorf-Wunsdorf road with a broken front axle. One TCO and 10 M1 with red-bordered black epaulets were with the truck which was loaded with suitcases and other baggage. [redacted] the vehicle belongs to the unit which recently moved into the Cambrai Kaserne. The army bakery at the Cambrai Kaserne was in operation. Truck [redacted] loaded with loaves of bread there. The bakery was brightly lighted and in full operation during the night of 13 September. * 50X1-HUM

* Comment. [redacted]

It is possible that the newly arrived personnel in the Lutz Kaserne and the Cambrai Kaserne may have been connected with the officer training courses as well as the truck convoy, probably loaded with baggage, which traveled from Rehagen to Klausdorf. All vehicles observed in Camp Wunsdorf belong to the GORP. 50X1-HUM
